

Tribulation and Apocalypse

Samuel E. Surazal

Seize the light of grace that God gives you,
the light of grace

and not the darkness that is now visible to you.

Note from the translator

This book brings together and summarizes two previous books.

- Die Jahre der Drangsal (2020)
- Die innere Apokalypse (2021)

Intended as spiritual reading, these writings do not aim at worldly enlightenment, even while illustrating truths with examples from earthly life. Written in 2020/2021 they place a strong focus on the then-emerging coronavirus outbreak, vaccine regulations and the resulting measures, viewed from both a worldly and spiritual perspective.

In this time of change, this book serves as both a wake-up call and a message of hope, light, and love. This change is realized not so much through an outward apocalypse, but primarily as a profound inner transformation—revealing that God’s love endures through all tribulation and guiding us toward the return of Jesus Christ and the establishment of His Kingdom of Peace.

This translation seeks to remain faithful to the original German writings while preserving the spiritual message contained within. The Fatherwords were likewise received in German.

Preface

Jesus once said that if we truly knew what was happening behind the scenes of this world, we would no longer wish to go on living here out of sheer horror. Now, in this time of renewal, some of it is becoming visible. That is painful, especially for those with children who still have their earthly lives ahead of them. Yet we must remain aware that these end times are limited, and that this hellish world will ultimately come to an end. For every birth eventually comes to pass—so too that of the new Earth—and it will not be stillborn. The Earth, as God's planet, will behold the light of the world, and there will be peace, true love, and a valid truth.

However the Father says that great hardship must come first. It is meant to awaken the lukewarm and steady the restless, so that in their suffering, people may turn back to Him, pray to Him, and rediscover the path back to their destiny as children of God—for which they were created.

With the right mindset and an open heart, these coming trials are a both a wake-up call and an instrument—for Christians and for worldly people alike: on the one hand, to recognize their divine calling, and on the other, to attain salvation from spiritual death. For what is at stake is eternal life, which is now being prepared and unfolding for each individual soul. Since humanity has sunk too deeply into the mire of godless existence, tribulation and misery are the currency of redemption—not freedom and peace. Unfortunately, there is no other way.

Yes, it would be desirable for the birth to take place swiftly now, for evil seems to have reached its peak. The battle between good and evil, Satan's takeover, is in full swing, soon it appears he may have achieved his goal: the complete subjugation and enslavement of humanity. Like an octopus, the Antichrist has spread his grasp across the Earth. Over decades of deceit he has built the pillars of his edifice of lies, only to present himself as the savior of humanity once the whole world has been brought to ruin—economy, finance, health—hypocritically promising restoration, prosperity, and peace. Yet in truth, humanity is to be turned into a uniform and exploitable mass - democracy replaced by a brutal, manipulative, and anti-Christian dictatorship. And all of this will be quasi-justified in the name of human rights, care and health.

This coming system brings death and destruction. Through it Satan will deliver humanity a spiritual death blow, turning people into soulless machines to be ruled and used at will by him and his servants. Then he would have created the world he has always desired—a world belonging to him alone.

Yet this anti-Christian creation—this infernal monstrosity, this beast with seven heads and ten horns—will not endure for long. Soon the temple of spiritual death will collapse, burying its followers and demons beneath it. Soon the beast, tearing itself apart, will fall into the abyss it has treacherously built. For Jesus Christ will come in all His power and glory—and He is already here for those of His children who have opened the doors of their hearts to Him. In His light, every lie of the world will be exposed, and all the wickedness of Satan and his followers will be laid bare before all beings, both in this world and beyond. As living truth, God will judge the living and the dead, calling each person to account for their thoughts, their words, and their deeds.

Therefore, let every person reflect and turn back, let every person repent of falsehood and lovelessness and open his heart to selfless love—to love for Jesus Christ and, through Him to love for his neighbor. So that they may ascend the Ark—that is, the heart of God—within which every falsehood and lie is recognized, within which salvation from all evil is found, within which one is sheltered and protected in the tribulation of the coming years.

Yes, Jesus Christ will now establish His kingdom of peace and love on this Earth for His children, who currently languish in the stench of lies and the sulfur of hell, who now endure and suffer the cruelty and deception of the Antichrist. Yet soon they shall enter the kingdom of heaven of Jesus Christ, and their reward will be divine. And there will be one heart, one light, and one love—forever.

Thus speaks to you, Satan, through me, the archangel Michael, messenger and warrior of Heaven: "Satan, lord of lies, falsehood, and disgrace, yet you still have the chance to turn back! Remove the darkness from the souls of the lost, lift the shadow from this Earth, for this battle you will lose! This I say to you in the presence of God, who has granted me the authority to judge you, who has placed the fate of this Earth within my heart. Abandon your plan and surrender to love, so that the misery you bring upon this world in pride and malice may come to an end!

And to the devils in human form I say: Satan, the fallen spirit of matter, has planted his evil thoughts within your hearts; you are his slaves, though you believe yourselves to be masters. Oh, how greatly you deceive yourselves! You forfeit your lives for eternities. Your blackened souls have united themselves with the darkness of otherworldly abysses—and there you shall one day go. All your evil deeds will fall back upon you, and your fate will be terrible, and your torment beyond description. You betray not only humanity, for just as Judas once betrayed Jesus Christ, so you betray and crucify the body of God anew—persecuting and murdering the children of God who form His living body upon this Earth—the very children whom our heavenly Father has sent.

Yet even now, there is still a chance for reflection. Abandon your evil plans. Because of your position, you have been given the opportunity to become true benefactors of humanity and not perpetrators of evil! Repent, and thereby spare yourselves eternal banishment into your own satanic abysses. Repent, and I say it again: Repent!"

To all humanity: this call to "repent" now echoes within all lost and godless souls. It is the final call, yet it will echo and reverberate across this Earth until the days of judgment. Then it will fall silent, and God will reap His harvest.

Thus speaks our Father in Heaven:

„My children, who wander upon this Earth in the flesh of mortality, who have descended into the realm of death, who have voluntarily undertaken the peril of becoming lost and of spiritual death, who have fallen into oblivion out of love for Me.

Most of you do not yet hear or see Me, but know this: I am with you. No child who seeks Me in love is left alone. If you could see the hosts of angels who walk beside you and protect you, who gently anoint your souls with the divine balm of love; if you could see that I walk beside you and before you, preparing your paths; if you could see that you walk in the presence of God—you would be entirely without worry and fear.

And I say to you and emphasize it: Believe with all your heart and all your soul that it is so. For blessed are those who do not see and yet believe.¹ And again I say: You have chosen the better part. But beware, for the enemy goes about and seeks to lead you astray. Therefore, do not falter in the daily struggle for love—for Me and for your fellow human beings.

Amen, Amen, Amen, I say this, Lord of Infinity, righteous God of all beings, yet most loving Father to My children."

And again You speak:

"My children, it is a daily effort to turn yourselves toward Me. There are so many opposing forces that constantly hinder you spiritually and draw you away from Me. Above all is the fear of the future, which weighs heavily upon you. It comes and goes, then you find yourselves again in Me, and all is well. But if it lingers, if fear and anxiety take hold of the soul, you lose sight of Me, you lose awareness of Me within your hearts.

Know this: I am with you. Even though My appearance, My Second Coming, will not take place for several years, I have already come among you. You do not see Me, yet I am with you. You believe yourselves to be in great danger, yet I am more powerful than any threat. You are My children, do you not believe that you mean everything to Me, and that I use My divine power and strength to protect and guide you? But to accomplish this, you must open the doors of your hearts to Me, trusting Me in all situations of your lives.

And pray, pray for the blind, for those who are led astray, for those who are losing their earthly existence, pray for the hungry and for the thirsty. Have compassion, yet do not let your compassion draw you into darkness, but entrust to Me the people with whom you suffer, who cause you worry and who fill you with fear.

And be open to change; not only outwardly, but change will and must take place within you, so that you are prepared and equipped for the coming times and beyond. For in your love for Me, I will permeate your consciousness. This may at times lead to states that seem strange to you, yet let it happen. Do not think about it in worldly ways; do not believe that you are spiritually ill or that I have abandoned you, instead surrender every state to Me. I will never leave you. Amen, Amen, Amen."

And so we pray to You, dear Father:

"Heavenly Father, our hearts beat gently, filled with warm love for you. Thank you, our Savior, for your comforting and encouraging words which we may receive. They fill us with heavenly peace through and through and strengthen our trust, allowing us to experience your merciful presence, as you once said: "I am with you always, even unto the end of the age".²

Now we ask you, our Father, to extend your light of love to our fellow human beings who have turned away from us in their worldly pursuits. Strengthen them in the fullness of your love, just as we now hold them in brotherly love within our hearts. Strengthen us as well, that we may always walk and act with you, and that all our deeds be continually accompanied by your true blessing.

Below lies the broad road, in the turmoil of worldly confusion, into the maw of the dragon. And here above leads the narrow path, rocky and rough yet a gentle burden, and quiet.³ And there at the top you stand, gracious Father, stretching out your open arms to us, taking us into your eternally loving Father-heart.

Amen—so be it forever."

The three levels of the Apocalypse

The Apocalypse unfolds on three levels: the spiritual, the soul, and the material. It can therefore be read and understood on each of these three levels.

The spiritual apocalypse describes general processes of the beyond, viewed from a similar perspective. In this sense, the images in the Book of Revelation are figures and formations used symbolically, reflecting the events and struggles within the spiritual realm of the Earth. Here, however, a distinction can be made between a heavenly and a divine meaning.

- Heavenly meaning: the lower heaven—the heaven of wisdom; the middle heaven—the heaven of love and wisdom; the highest heaven—the heaven of love. Within this heavenly development, no final completion has yet taken place, no full spiritual rebirth has been attained.
- Divine meaning: The heart of heaven, the Holy City of Jerusalem. Those who enter have attained complete spiritual rebirth. The divine Spirit, united with the soul, enters fully and irrevocably into God's love, becoming completely one with God.

In accordance with these great spiritual processes, the inner apocalypse takes place within the individual soul-spheres of each human being. Here, the soul experiences and undergoes various relative states of being—sphere-realms—along his life path and in his struggles, through different fateful material incarnations, as well as in his journeys beyond the veil.

The material apocalypse expresses these processes, both on the spiritual level and that of the soul, in the outward, earthly, anti-Christian activity, as well as in the final deliverance from evil. Humanity experiences and lives through this time of tribulation, transformation, and renewal, and now stands in the final throes before the birth into the age of peace, wisdom, and love.

The three levels are interwoven and mutually dependent; acting upon one another. Each level is contained within the others: the material flows into the soul, and together flow into the spiritual, and the spiritual returns back into both. Within these principles, infinity and eternity are contained.

In and on each level, therefore, all levels may be found; therefore the material, the soul, and the spiritual can be contemplated to infinite depth—whether in love, in wisdom, or in divine truth and reality— which will bring us great joy in eternal life, that is, in the heavenly-divine vision.

The explanation given here does not apply solely to the Apocalypse, but to every prophetic word, to every word of God, to every act of creation—indeed to every thought and every deed. For in essence, God is every word and every act. God is the eternal Word, the eternal Life, the eternal Love, the eternal Wisdom and the eternal Truth itself—and in God all is One.

The perfidious apocalypse of anti-Christianity

The following texts reveal the abyssal and perfidious plans of anti-Christianity; a global agenda to be fundamentally established within the next 5-7 years and in the coming 15–25 years to be expanded and irrevocably fixed. It sounds so unbelievable that it is hard to accept. However, the descriptions attest to what is truly happening behind the scenes in the world and what humanity would expect if God ultimately did not put a stop to these satanic activities.

I hereby assure that I am not a so-called conspiracy theorist (a label invented by conspirators to publicly stigmatize inconvenient persons), but a realistic person with a clear mind and a God-filled heart, proclaiming truth on behalf of our heavenly Father.

The Vaccine Apocalypse - Part 1:

Thrombosis, heart attacks, and cerebral hemorrhages are possible with all vaccines. In addition, mRNA vaccines cause the human immune system, weakened by mask mandates and lockdowns, through lack of oxygen and physical activity—to react in a catastrophic manner when it comes into contact with coronavirus. The natural defense system of the vaccinated is suppressed because the specific antibodies that were injected take control. These antibodies are permanent. They remain in the body of the vaccinated forever. The damage is irreversible. The result is the destruction of the immune system.

When millions of people are vaccinated, the virus is enabled to mutate, becoming stronger and more deadly. Ever-new vaccines only make the situation worse—it's like adding fuel to the fire. The vaccinated now transmit the mutated viruses to those around them. Each vaccinated person becomes a superspreader, as their bodies become laboratories constantly producing new mutations. Yet the vaccinated can no longer respond to these naturally, because their immune systems have been taken over by an artificially injected defense system. New vaccinations against mutations always lag behind—just as with flu vaccines—and are completely ineffective. Before ultimately dying from the life-threatening viruses, a person becomes a walking plague, capable of infecting anyone who comes too close.

The unvaccinated are blamed for the many deaths and held accountable, however the truth is it is the vaccination that kills. Now the vaccinated become a threat to the unvaccinated, who must stay away from the vaccinated because they spread highly dangerous mutations; for the viruses they shed are each time more devastating than the original. Now, however, there is a danger that all of humanity could be wiped out, and not just the 80-90% originally planned. The antichrists likely did not foresee this; this scenario may have been underestimated by the insane eugenicists and transhumanists around Bill Gates and Klaus Schwab.

(Later) Yes, I now receive information from the spiritual world: if God did not intervene, humanity would ultimately annihilate itself. This would be the end of human life on this planet. Further evolution of both the soul and the spirit would be halted; the purpose of this Earth—which was created solely for humanity’s return to God—would be undone by a few insane and power-hungry individuals.

The Vaccine Apocalypse - Part 2:

Within the vaccine, so-called nanobots (programmable computer operating systems) are injected into the human body (a nanometer is one billionth of a meter). This is one component. The other component is fetal cells from aborted babies. Thus, the electronic components can merge with the biological components to form a living cell. These are essentially tiny robots, molecular machines that autonomously reprogram our immune system.

DNA is the building block of life, containing the word of creation: Let there be! mRNA is the messenger that delivers this message, carrying this divine Word within us: the program of God.

The “vaccine” hacks or overwrites this divine programming and turns it into a satanic program. This not only leads to the decay of physical health, and the deterioration of the cellular organism, but the human being also becomes incapable of perceiving God’s Word or receiving God’s Spirit, because the connection—or access—to God is severed. To put it in worldly terms: over time, many people lose their minds; sooner or later, they become “mindless” machines, living dead.

This is the pinnacle of Satan's destructive rage. Never since creation has there been anything so cruel. Never, across infinite space and infinite time, has God been so seemingly nullified, allowing Satan to rise as a pseudo-creator, an unrestricted dictator, to enslave and torment the people of this Earth for all eternity.

The Vaccine, Test, and 5G Apocalypse - Part 3:

The nanobots that are installed in the human body by means of the vaccine can be activated and controlled using 5G technology. In addition, 5G microwaves influence brain waves; the connection between soul and brain is manipulated. In this manner, any psychological state can be induced, making every person contaminated with nanotechnology controllable. Such a person can be blackmailed, driven into madness, or killed. The Internet of Things thus becomes a satanic instrument of transhumanism and eugenics.

But above all, 5G technology is being used to create and amplify pandemics. By increasing frequencies into the 60-GHz range, oxygen molecules can be altered in their rotation so that they can no longer be transported by human hemoglobin, which leads to respiratory distress and can ultimately result in death. In this way, hundreds of thousands of “corona deaths” can be produced. This, in turn, allows for more drastic measures to be implemented in order to push forward the dictatorial plans more rapidly and more extensively.

The Covid test: The test swabs can contain either Morgellons or nanoparticles—or even a vaccine. In addition, the antigen rapid tests, which are regularly administered to children and adolescents, are treated with the highly toxic chemical ethylene oxide, which is strongly carcinogenic and can cause brain tumors.

The mysterious Morgellons pathogens display physical characteristics, behaviors, and effects similar to those of single-celled organisms, algae, springtails, fleas, and worms. They also contain components indicating artificially created parasites at the nanoscale. After prolonged infestation with Morgellons pathogens, not only skin diseases but also psychological and internal physical symptoms can occur (such as Lyme disease, thrombosis, meningoencephalitis, and organ disorders), which can ultimately lead to death.

Nanoparticles damage blood vessels and also interfere with the sense of smell (COVID symptom). Like the finest aluminum particles, these ultrafine assemblers also impair brain function and thus thinking and learning. Brains exposed to nanoparticles often develop abnormal features similar to those found in Alzheimer's and Parkinson's disease. Morgellons and nanoparticles have also been discovered in FFP2 masks.

All of these perfidious methods of administration damage or destroy the immune system, making every virus a life-threatening danger. As a result, targeted population reduction can take place, and the entire human race can be arbitrarily controlled, manipulated, and reduced. This is what the New World Order looks like—planned for generations by the servants of Satan and now being carried out.

The DNA and transhumanism apocalypse:

By altering DNA through vaccinations and/or using CRISPR-Cas9 gene editing (a tool for modifying the genetic material of living organisms), humanity interferes with divine creation, changing the building blocks of life. In this way, humans are capable of creating any creatures they want—plants, animals, and humans—according to their own specifications. They play God, so to speak—but without love and wisdom, acting instead with evil intent. They force the soul into the wrong body and trap its consciousness in an anti-Christian mental cage, rendering it unable to traverse the bridge that Jesus Christ has established.

But the plans of the Antichrist go even further: through transgender propaganda, the sexes are ultimately to be unified—reduced to a mere it. This it is to be controlled and manipulated through the fusion of man and machine using nanotechnology and 5G.

The self-proclaimed master race would then rule over a bred and controllable mass of slaves, distributed across sealed "Smart Cities" and their satellite towns (digital surveillance prisons) as well as designated controlled zones. These perpetually manipulated puppets are well-fed and entertained with bread and circuses, while simultaneously providing organs for the elite and serving them as laborers and objects of pleasure. No one can hold these New World tyrants accountable, for they are the sole masters. It would be a world of godless cruelty and endless terror. This is the pinnacle of bizarre megalomania, which would ultimately destroy humanity.

No, this is not horror science fiction, but satanic reality. This globally orchestrated plan has been prepared for over 100 years by a few megalomaniacal family clans. Everything is meticulously structured and organized—not by foolish politicians, but by highly intelligent psychologists and strategists. At the critical points sit psychopaths who pull the strings, commanding the heads of government of nearly every country, as well as the CEOs of the major organizations and corporations. Those who do not obey are murdered, as recently happened with three African heads of state, officially reported as having died suddenly of heart failure—just as with politicians Kennedy, Barschel, Haider, Möllemann, Westerwelle, Oppermann, and several others.

Now the time has come for the satanic agitators to rigorously implement their fascist plans. But these will not succeed. For ultimately, Jesus Christ will thwart their schemes. He will intervene and bring their abominable deeds to an end. He will hold all evil accountable, bind it, and consign it to places that correspond to its corrupt, godless consciousness. And there will be peace on Earth and true love for a long time.

What can we do?

The Father has provided His children with an Ark. It is open and accessible to everyone. It is His heart. The satanic reprogramming will not work on any child of God – even if they cannot escape the vaccination and/or are vaccinated under duress and violence. However, it is absolutely necessary for people to surrender themselves completely to the love of Jesus Christ.

Now is the time to renounce the world completely, to leave all that hinders behind, so that one may place heart and soul entirely in God's hands. This is our only salvation. Otherwise, one risks losing the divine connection and dying spiritually.

Furthermore, the Father Himself can restore the divine programming in any person at any time, healing both body and soul—either indirectly through His apostles or directly during the silent heart-prayer of a sick or repentant sinner. For Jesus Christ prepares and sends His apostles, and is already at work, healing those who are of good will, in both body and soul.

The best and only truly safe means to endure this time unharmed and under protection is the love of our heavenly Father in Jesus Christ, and through this toward our neighbor. Prayer, too, is an effective weapon for keeping evil spirits at bay, both here and in the beyond, to neutralize negative energies, and to remain healthy in body and soul. Yet we may also protect ourselves in earthly, natural ways by actively maintaining and strengthening our immune system.

Good for the immune system:

Sunlight; plenty of exercise in the fresh air; walks in the forest, mountains, and along the beach; proper nutrition—vitamin-rich foods; drinking mainly water; taking little to no pharmaceutical substances; occasionally one or two glasses of good wine; restful sleep;

beautiful music; joy and a sense of security. Mostly what governments and corporations do not provide, and often what they forbid.

Bad for the immune system:

Lack of oxygen and light; insufficient physical activity; improper or excessive food intake; cell phone and Wi-Fi radiation; excessive consumption of alcohol and caffeine; smoking; medications; violent films; fear and anxiety; nervousness and stress. Mostly what governments and corporations promote and mandate.

One should also avoid reading tabloid newspapers and magazines from the major publishing houses, as these are almost entirely in anti-Christian hands and serve as propaganda tools of the shadow government. The same applies to state and private television networks. Especially their news programs, talk shows, and informational broadcasts, as well as the news and documentary channels that belong to the media cartel, are instruments that continuously spread misinformation and panic to legitimize and establish the deceit of the so-called elites.

If one wishes to watch television, it is now possible to curate one's own programming using media libraries and streaming services. At the end of this book, you will also find references to informative internet resources and Christian portals.

Binding guidance on the vaccination

I have received a clear message about vaccination. In principle, one should not take the vaccine; yet Jesus also says that the motive for getting vaccinated is decisive for its effect and outcome.

If one is vaccinated in order to participate again in worldly pursuits, becoming part of the material system of exploitation, deceit, and commerce—with all its godless pleasures and entertainments—then God’s protection is not effective. If one is vaccinated out of fear of viruses, placing satanic over divine protection, the Father cannot supernaturally protect His child. Those who serve death perish through death.

If, however, one is vaccinated in order to be able to purchase food for oneself and one’s loved ones; perform acts of charity; to meet with other Christians, to pray in fellowship, and grow spiritually; go into the mountains or travel to the sea—not for ordinary tourism, but to spend time in peace, quiet, and solitude, intensifying one’s love for God and through it, for one’s neighbor—then the Father’s protection is effective. These exceptions are shared with His child in the respective situation.

With right intention and just necessity, vaccination—and likewise testing—is therefore possible. Not to return to the worldly mire, but to preserve and shape one’s earthly life in a godly and meaningful way, serving God and humanity in love. And yet the Father may also call away some of His beloved home, even if they receive the vaccine with pure intent. These, however, will enter His Kingdom of Heaven, for they die a martyr’s death. For them, departing the body is a joy and liberation.

Jesus Christ now demands of His children a decisive detachment from the old self, an inner conversion, that we can realize a consistent spiritual life. For Corona and the circumstances surrounding it are instruments for the separation of spirits, to distinguish the true believers from the merely professing.

And what about the children and the youth? Only a few of them live in true faith or have insight into earthly machinations, for the world holds their consciousness captive through many distorted views as well as constant digital distractions. Caught in the spirit of the age, most of them are no longer able to accept the Christian values of their parents. Here one must let go outwardly, yet inwardly pray for them with devotion and entrust their lives to the Father.

In summary, one may say that there is no reason for worry or fear when one places one’s heart in God’s heart, in order to live within it and from it. This does not mean that we must become perfect overnight. God opened His heart upon the cross above all for those souls who are sick, blind, and lost—for us sinners. It means acknowledging one’s weaknesses and faults before God and thus kneeling before the altar of His heart. Then the Father can and will embrace, strengthen, and protect His weak child.

The separation of spirits

We have established that the mRNA injection reprograms our DNA. It hacks and overwrites the divine Word of creation in the human being—or rather, it blocks access to it. After several vaccinations, many of the vaccinated become soulless, that is, will-less creatures.

But! is that not already the condition of a large part of humanity, brought about by the daily mass conditioning through the public media? Do we not live among millions upon millions of “consumer zombies,” remotely controlled and obedient to authority, believing and doing everything that is staged and presented to them in the theater of the Antichrist? Have they not long since ceased to think for themselves, but are instead thought for in a totalitarian fashion?

This majority of people—whose souls have already been indoctrinated—is now also being vaccinated physically, in accordance with their spiritual mutation: the manifestation of evil, the testimony of godlessness written by the Antichrist upon human DNA.

Thus, humanity is divided into three parts, though the boundaries are (still) fluid:

- The followers of Jesus and loving people, who are the true Christians. They have eyes to see and ears to hear. They are kept safe and protected in Jesus Christ, whatever may come. They abide within the Ark that the Heavenly Father provides for them—His Heart.
- The enlightened yet predominantly faithless anti-vaxxers and so-called “corona deniers,” who will still hear God’s call in their hearts, so that they may remember their divine origin. To them are joined the well-meaning people and “believers” who, because of mass manipulation, did not know—and perhaps do not wish to know—any better. They will be shaken awake on Earth, or received in the beyond by spiritual guides, where they will receive guidance for the path that lies ahead, which will unfold according to the state of their hearts.
- The compliant and/or ignorant masses, who long to return to their “old normal,” and to indulge once again in bottomless materialism with its exploitative and inhumane systems. During and after the world’s new birth they will be led into other schools and places of learning; a path of purification and liberation—often long and difficult—lies before them.

As we see every day, it is not only the foolish but also the intelligent who fall prey to the lies and falsehoods of these supposed “improvers of the world.” Yet intelligence does not necessarily equate to true understanding, free thinking, and empathy, it is more often tied to an overemphasis on rational thinking. Indeed, alongside worry, fear, and folly, nothing is more easily conditioned or manipulated than the self-important, deluded, ego-driven, and narrow-minded mind.

It cannot be emphasized enough: whoever places themselves in God's hands—not merely in theory or abstraction, but in practice, truly with heart and soul—walks the path that is called, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life"⁴; they walk with Jesus Christ.

That is all—nothing more is needed. The command to "Love God above all else and your neighbor as yourself"⁵ must become a daily reality.

Facade democracy and shadow government

A quote from a political traitor to the people—who, at least once, spoke the truth: "Those who decide are not elected, and those who are elected have nothing to decide."

What we call democracy is in fact ruled by a shadow government, from which true power flows. What we understand as democracy is merely a representative facade, a theatrical performance for the authority- and media-obedient masses—packaged simply for the foolish and gullible, cleverly packaged for the blinded worshippers of intellect.

In truth, however, it is the so-called "Deep State" that pulls the strings at every level: political, military, scientific, pharmaceutical-medical, financial, ecological, and every aspect of societal existence.

Alongside the propagated—but in reality nonexistent—freedom of speech, free elections are a flagship of democracy. Yet it is the shadow governments that decide which politicians appear on the ballots. The media's role is to stir up support for the chosen candidates, ensuring that the preferred contender wins the election. The propagandistic influence of the media on the population plays a decisive role in making it highly probable that the favorites promoted by the elites are elected. If this process fails, as in the case of Donald Trump, the media unleash an unprecedented smear and defamation campaign. Similarly, parties that pose an oppositional threat to the established charlatans undergo the same fate.

Simple structure of the 'deep state' complex, according to B. Hamm:

- In the inner circle, we find the elite—the wealthiest family dynasties, each with fortunes of several billion euros.
- The second circle, closely intertwined with the inner, black heart of the satanic state, is composed of the CEOs of large transatlantic corporations, the greatest international financial magnates, and the Vatican. Their main focus is to multiply the wealth of the inner circle—and thereby their own—and to keep the theater audience in a dreamy, half-conscious state.
- The third circle includes the most important international politicians, some holding government positions, others serving as behind-the-scenes advisors, and some in international institutions—along with the top ranks of the military. This political class has two tasks: to organize the distribution of society's resources so that as much as possible flows to the two inner circles, and to safeguard the political circus of a so-called pluralistic democracy with the necessary legitimacy.

- The fourth circle consists of the heads of science, media moguls, judges, intelligence agencies, prominent figures from every sector, and representatives of NGOs (non-governmental organizations). They enjoy access to the powerful, are well compensated, and will do everything to preserve these privileges.
- At every level, one finds Satanists who, in their respective circles, are allied with other-worldly evil powers.

The hidden state of lies—the tree of falsehood—from which the serpent of temptation, lust for power, and forbidden desires speaks, in order to manipulate and rule, has existed from the beginning. Depending on the development of humanity, this satanic energy assumed forms and structures adapted to earthly systems.

It began with Adam; our forefather and our foremother Eve, were the first humans to fall for a lie and follow it, resulting in their expulsion from Paradise—barred from the fruit of the tree of life. In the time of Noah, it was the rulers of the city of Hanoah (Atlantis) and its surrounding satellite cities who led the people to ruin. In the time of Jesus, it was the Pharisees who deceived and betrayed the people—who crucified Jesus, the Way, the Truth, and the Life. Afterward, the Catholic Church, as well as emperors and royal houses, ruled through falsehood, deceit, pride, megalomania, and lies.

In the industrial age, a new deceitful elite emerged, whose power has spread across the entire Earth to this day. Over multiple generations, this self-proclaimed master race has created the means to truly seize dominion over the world. What is now unfolding is therefore the consistent continuation of the satanic bloodlines from Adam to the present. Now, a pseudo-democratic New World Order can come into effect, promising health and prosperity, while in truth intending exactly the opposite. However, our heavenly Father will soon bring these activities to an inglorious end. He Himself speaks of this in the next chapter.

Event 201: A strange pandemic exercise shortly before the outbreak of the corona crisis

(From a report by the German Economic News)

On October 18, 2019, the simulation exercise “Event 201” took place in New York, with the participation of representatives and staff from the Chinese health authority, the World Economic Forum (WEF), the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, and the CIA. A global coronavirus outbreak and a worldwide pandemic were simulated. In the exercise, the outbreak was supposed to begin in Brazil rather than in China, but otherwise it corresponded in detail to what began unfolding worldwide from December 2019 onward, starting in the Chinese metropolis of Wuhan and continuing to this day.

According to the event's official website, the aim was to illustrate areas where public-private cooperation would be necessary in the event of a serious pandemic in order to mitigate far-reaching economic and social consequences.

Several circumstances surrounding “Event 201” appear peculiar in light of the present coronavirus pandemic:

All three organizers (the Bill Gates Foundation, Johns Hopkins University, and the World Economic Forum) play an important role in the current pandemic. Gates is a major financial supporter of the WHO and of many scientific research institutes, as well as a financier of vaccine production. Johns Hopkins University is the organization that provides the figures tracking the development of the coronavirus pandemic, which are recorded by virtually all governments and used as a basis for their decisions. At the WEF, economic experts, politicians, scientists, social actors, and journalists gather to discuss “current global issues.” In addition to economic and social policy, they also address health and environmental policy. Aha.

The venue is also noteworthy, as New York later became so-called hotspot of the pandemic. The timing of 'Event 201' is also interesting. Less than three months later, the coronavirus wave actually broke out in China and then spread across the globe. Meanwhile, reports have increasingly emerged suggesting that the disease may already have appeared in several countries in the autumn of 2019.

It should also be mentioned at this point that Angela Merkel was in Wuhan three months before the outbreak of the pandemic, from where the virus spread. Among other things, she inaugurated a new site for the company Webasto there. And it was precisely at this company that the first coronavirus cases were later reported in February 2020. According to media reports, the employees were infected by a colleague from China. Because of her connections to Bill Gates, the WHO, Johns Hopkins University, and the Bilderberg group, Mrs. Merkel is deeply entangled in the swamp of anti-Christian machinations.

The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

The following text refers, among other things, to statements by Robert F. Kennedy Jr. He is the nephew of former U.S. President John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated in the late 1960s. As a lawyer, he advocates for environmental issues as well as for an unbiased examination and evaluation of vaccines. At the large demonstration in Berlin on August 29, 2020, he delivered a memorable speech to more than 500,000 people who attended live or via livestream, ending with the words of his uncle: "I am a Berliner!" No radio or television station was allowed to report on this event.

Bill Gates tested a vaccine developed specifically against polio in India. To do this, he took control of India's national advisory board. As a result, all children under the age of five were vaccinated—leading to a devastating outbreak of vaccine-derived polio. Between 2000 and 2017, this reportedly paralyzed nearly 500,000 children. In 2017, the Indian government finally "woke up" and ended Gates's vaccination campaigns. Similar projects also appear to have taken place in the Congo, the Philippines, and Afghanistan. According to Kennedy, in 2018 around 75 percent of global polio cases were attributable to Gates's vaccines.

But there is also cervical cancer. In 2014, Gates launched experimental vaccination campaigns for this in remote Indian provinces. A number of serious side effects reportedly occurred, such as autoimmune reactions and fertility disorders.

In this context, Natural News published an article in 2015 with the headline: "Indian doctors accuse Bill Gates of harming children with deadly humanitarian vaccines." For this reason, India's Supreme Court reportedly initiated investigations which concluded that the Gates Foundation had conducted illegal vaccine trials related to HPV (papillomaviruses) on children in developing countries. Poor families—mostly with little formal education—were deliberately selected. In 2009, 16,000 children became victims of these human experiments. Many of the children became seriously ill shortly after vaccination, and some of them died.

In 2010, there was a trial involving experimental malaria vaccines from GSK (a pharmaceutical research and development organization that belongs to GAVI) in Africa. In this trial, 151 African toddlers died, and more than 1,000 of those vaccinated suffered severe side effects such as paralysis and febrile seizures.

In 2013, it became known that the vaccine alliance GAVI, which is funded by donations from the Gates Foundation, used unapproved polio vaccines and five-component combination vaccines on children in Pakistan. Many of the children developed what is known as NPAFP (non-polio acute flaccid paralysis), a form of paralysis that cannot be clinically distinguished from polio but is more deadly.

Computer expert Bill Gates views people as machines on which one can experiment at will. His alleged humanitarian intention to eradicate diseases and epidemics is, in reality, aimed at reducing the world's population. He himself allegedly confirmed that he considers this to be sensible in a lecture. This could be implemented, among other things, through worldwide, continuously repeated vaccination campaigns, whereby the vaccine—like the HIV drug AZT—would ultimately be deadly due to its side effects, while “science and research” would attribute the continued high mortality rate to the treacherous disease.

In principle, the expected death rate among vaccinated individuals is officially stated to be 0.1%. If the entire world population were vaccinated—as is actually planned—this would mean “only” 8 million collateral deaths, in addition to illness cases numbering in the hundreds of millions. Since massive side effects are allegedly planned for the novel SARS-CoV-2 vaccine and there are further unknown components due to missing vaccine studies, a death rate of at least 10% is to be expected. The ultimate goal, however, is said to be a far more drastic reduction of the Earth's population.

Why? This is considered a prerequisite for a controllable dictatorship that would ensure the antichrist world rulers and their descendants unrestricted authority over all areas of life, as well as secure earthly resources forever. That may truly sound unbelievable—and yet it is so.

The topics of population reduction through artificial intelligence, transhumanism, geo-engineering, HAARP, nanotechnology, genetic engineering, bioweapons, and 5G will not be discussed further here. That is covered in the book “2025 – The Endgame” by Dr. Joachim Sonntag. In it, both real and theoretical developments are considered. Not for the faint-hearted or those with weak nerves.

Psychological warfare - Mind control

This text aims to explain, in broad terms, the psychological methods currently being used on the world's population. These are systematic techniques of perception programming and mind control (MK-Ultra). Until now, this technique had only been applied to individuals; now it is being applied to the entire population.

One proven MK-Ultra method is placing masks over children's mouths and noses, reducing oxygen to the developing brain and thereby fundamentally affecting brain growth and cognitive development. It also diminishes children's ability to sense their own character and individuality, as well as that of their fellow human beings.

Politicians repeatedly emphasize: “... wearing masks isn't that bad.” However, mandatory masking is a central part of this war against the human psyche, this war by governments against their populations. The mask dehumanizes people, makes them faceless, and prevents the perception of distinguishing features of facial expression—which is especially important for adolescents. Most importantly, it keeps an illusory pandemic alive. It is also a humiliating symbol of being “silenced.”

What is the purpose of the “social distancing” measures? It is about isolation. People are to be separated, isolated, and anonymized. The goal is a targeted monopolization of general knowledge and judgment by restricting social interaction. Information is intended to be obtained primarily through school lessons, public media, or the Internet—and these sources are increasingly filtered and censored according to government directives.

As a result, it becomes possible to uniformly shape the opinions of the youth (who play a crucial role in future developments), as well as public opinion and general education. Collective consciousness can thus be comprehensively controlled. This has been the case for some time, but now there are no longer any limitations—the control is complete and absolute.

Travel restrictions and curfews also serve to disempower critical voices and to prevent the formation and maintenance of organized resistance.

Another MK-Ultra method is the constantly changing, contradictory, and sometimes absurd rules and regulations, as well as the constant uncertainty about what will happen in the near future. These developments are not due to ignorance or incompetence; no, they are intentional, as there is a psychological plan behind them. The rules are only seemingly issued by health experts—psychologists are actually behind them.

The nonsensical and chaotic measures are designed to make the population lose any sense of security and stability, generating primarily negative and traumatic emotions. In addition, many people experience anxiety and depression due to the constant threat of a seemingly dangerous virus or the fear of being punished for failing to comply with absurd regulations. There is also the fear of losing one’s livelihood due to job loss or business closures, which threatens basic survival.

This is a subtle form of torture that produces mental exhaustion and discouragement. From time to time there are small concessions—a reward for obedience for doing what those in power say.

Another mind-control technique, originally developed by the CIA as a tool for controlling MK-Ultra slaves of the U.S. government and now applied to unwanted critics and opponents of the regime, is omnipotent control: “You can no longer go anywhere without us knowing where you are.”

This psychological humiliation creates fear and anger. What is the objective? Hopelessness and powerlessness. Submission and obedience. Complicity and denunciation.

All of this is part of a brainwashing program that is now being applied to large parts of the world’s population. Human beings are therefore not only physically dependent on the state; they become psychologically dependent as they are subjected to the dictates of misanthropic, anti-Christian powers.

A brief introduction to nutrition

How does the topic of nutrition fit into a global conspiracy? On the one hand, the food industry also plays a major role in the stupefaction of humanity, because with its addictive products, it has cultivated a sluggish and gluttonous following that willingly and gladly follows it everywhere and thoughtlessly consumes with whatever is placed before it. Thoughtlessness and submissiveness are fundamental prerequisites for being able to control general behavior.

On the other hand, I have chosen this topic in order to compare the numbers of illness and deaths resulting from poor nutrition with deaths from COVID-19 and with the risk of becoming ill or dying as a result of a conventional vaccination, which occurs relatively often. However, an mRNA vaccination poses a much greater danger than a traditional vaccination, because due to this satanic vaccination method, hundreds of millions of people around the world will die sooner or later.

However, as is commonly assumed, poor nutrition does not consist only of the consumption of sweets and snack foods, white flour, sugary drinks, or excessive amounts of meat and fish from abused animals treated with antibiotics or genetic modification, nor of plants sprayed with glyphosate. Since the toxins sugar and trans fats—together with a chemical mixture of flavorings and preservatives—are now present in almost all prepared and packaged foods, there are virtually no limits to general toxicosis, even in foods that appear healthy. In addition, excessive consumption of dairy products and the uncontrolled use of even supposedly healthy oils for frying and for salads harm the human organism, as they are primarily responsible for the clogging of arteries, known as arteriosclerosis.

When one examines this topic in detail, it quickly becomes apparent that 50–60% of all illnesses and deaths from high blood pressure, heart attacks, strokes, diabetes, cancer, and dementia occur as a result of improper nutrition. In addition, unhealthy foods alter the cellular structure and thus natural cell growth as well as the genetic code. This generally leads to a weakening of the immune system (autoimmune diseases) and to various other chronic illnesses—including in subsequent generations. At least another 10% die from the medication prescribed to treat these diseases.

Accordingly, in Germany about half of all deaths occur as a result of excessive and improper consumption of food and the intake of prescribed drugs due to resulting complications. Incorrect nutrition is therefore the cause of most lifestyle diseases and the associated deaths.

A few large food corporations have created a global empire through criminal methods, enabling them to ensure that mainly the products they provide are offered in supermarkets. Through ever new “scientific” findings, foods that cause illness have been declared healthy, and addictive products have been presented as part of a necessary balanced diet.

As a result, public opinion regarding nutrition has been manipulated to such an extent and such widespread confusion has been created that harmful and beneficial, valuable and worthless foods can hardly be distinguished anymore.

So what should we eat? Refined foods such as sugar, white flour, and ready meals should be largely avoided. Consumption of meat products should be kept to a minimum. Use salt without iodine and without the toxin fluoride. Healthy foods include whole grains, brown rice, potatoes, quinoa, cheese from a dairy rather than a factory, plant-based whole foods, vegetables, and fruit—preferably from regional, non-GMO sources. By eating this way, one not only prevents life-threatening diseases but also activates the body's self-healing abilities, so that existing illnesses and physical ailments diminish and disappear. Medications then become unnecessary or are needed only in small amounts.

Admittedly, Jesus says: *"What goes into the mouth does not defile a person, but what comes out of the mouth defiles a person."*⁶ He primarily indicates that nurturing the soul is far more important than fulfilling physical needs. In contrast to today's abnormal eating habits, people at that time still ate simply to sustain themselves.

Corona from an earthly and spiritual perspective

Corona as an instrument of polarity

In the world of duality that is matter, within everything bad and evil there is also something good — and everything good may likewise serve what is bad and evil. The saying “Everything has its two sides” proves especially true on this Earth, where the polarities of plus and minus act without restriction, where no limits are set to good and evil.

So it is also with the coronavirus. In its positive aspect and higher purpose, through the measures brought about by its spread, it allows the Earth and the atmosphere to recover. Where goodwill prevails, it brings parents and children back together, who within the home, had lost sight of each other in the eyes of their souls and in their hearts.

From the right perspective, it grants reflection and leads people to think about their values and what truly fills their lives, for it reveals our dependence on all those entrenched habits and material desires that blind and bind our souls, and thus hinder us from entering into spiritual life. Above all, however, it shows us how fragile a foundation we have built this world upon.

In contrast to this, the Covid-19 event gives governing authorities the opportunity to expand their power and control over the population. It lends even greater weight to godless science, enabling it to maintain and strengthen its position and to secure lasting funding. It serves as an instrument for the boundless enrichment of unscrupulous corporations led by power-hungry psychopaths. It also functions as a means to undermine and destroy economic structures and livelihoods, creating long-term financial dependencies — affecting individuals, businesses, and even entire states.

In the analogy of our own body, viral diseases of the respiratory tract and lungs show us what we are doing to the body of the Earth. We are in the process of destroying the Earth’s “green lungs” of the Earth by burning them; we pollute the air and water. We rob the Earth of the breath it needs in order to nourish and sustain us properly.

From a spiritual perspective, the virus serves several purposes. On the one hand, it is an instrument for the separation of spirits. Those who are well-meaning, truthful, and faithful are now increasingly filled with the spirit of Jesus Christ; their souls experience an expanded consciousness of love; becoming more compassionate and altruistic. Their souls blossom in the light of their heavenly Father. Those who are selfish and malevolent, on the other hand, grow increasingly hardened; they become more ruthless, more unscrupulous and without conscience. The divide between good and evil, as well as between rich and poor, widens even further.

This means that the kind-hearted will increasingly be exposed to harmful forces. Yet this condition also offers the children of love the possibility of a rapid spiritual rebirth.

How should one behave? The Father says that we should obey the laws; therefore, when no alternative exists, one should observe social distancing measures, curfews and wear masks. If vaccination can be avoided, one should do so in any case. If not, it is necessary and important to entrust oneself fully to the Father in this matter—as one should in all aspects of life.

Only Jesus Christ is our salvation and our refuge. He alone fulfills the longing of our hearts. He is our all in all, now and forever!

Correspondence between the spiritual and material world regarding coronavirus and viral infections in general ... and their consequences

Everything that occurs in the spiritual world manifests in the material world, for all material existence is a visible expression of spiritual activity.

Now the virus of godlessness has manifested materially. Just as human souls have been infected by materialism and atheism, and thereby by selfishness and lovelessness, and have consequently fallen ill, so too have the bodies of many been invaded by viruses of various kinds, and have likewise fallen ill.

The incubation periods correspond to the law of cause and effect on the spiritual level; here, too, a fateful event does not take effect immediately after a transgression or misdeed. Only when a sin has taken hold of the soul, because the person neither repented of nor rejected it, do they experience the consequences of their wrongful behavior.

If someone repents and sincerely asks both the heavenly Father and those who have been wronged for forgiveness, a divine protection and immunity are released, freeing the soul from sinful “viruses” and granting sufficient resilience against future infection by insidious spiritual and material intruders.

Just as the body’s immune system is weakened by various illnesses—most often caused by a misguided lifestyle and environmental influences, and increasingly so with advancing age—so too is the soul’s immunity weakened through the absence of divine light and divine love. Here as well, age plays a significant role, as patterns of thought gradually harden and conditioning can no longer be easily opened or dissolved; the soul becomes unable to resist the omnipresent, godless, and thus deadly currents.

In the analogy of the soul’s and body’s lung function, the coronavirus reveals the following: when the soul’s lungs, infiltrated by godlessness and lovelessness, no longer breathe the life-giving divine oxygen (love), then the body’s viral-infected respiratory tract is likewise no longer—or only to a limited extent—able to breathe life-giving earthly oxygen.

The planned mass vaccination reveals the already accomplished “vaccination” of the world’s population with the poison of materialism and unbelief, which one absorbs as long as one remains under the influence of satanic energies. A medicinal vaccine containing agents for immunization corresponds to the widespread psychological, moral, and ethical teachings, in which our souls appear to be healed, yet are in truth poisoned, because they do not contain the truth of Jesus Christ.

The mutation of the virus symbolizes the adaptation and camouflage of an essentially atheistic belief—combined with tolerant, free-thinking spirituality and the love of self disguised as charity— which, in ever-changing guises, insidiously infects souls, preventing humanity from living in true faith.

The fact that the virus originates from a scientific laboratory underscores that the sciences, in their many forms, are primarily responsible for the present spiritual mass decline, as they do not recognize God and attribute truth solely to their own atheistic understanding—propagating it as the only alternative in order to secure their supremacy. Thereby, “progress” has become the master of spiritual death.

Yet in the end, a worldwide pandemic of peace will seize this planet; a benevolent virus called Love will spread with incredible speed, infecting the hearts of humanity with joy and bliss. The light of truth will encircle the Earth as a divine corona (crown), visible to all beings of both the material and the spiritual creation.

Corona measures from a divine perspective

In order to comprehend and understand the divine insights presented below regarding these measures — in their radical nature and apparent ruthlessness — one must first recognize how far humanity has strayed from divine life. The chasm between God and humankind has reached alarming proportions; the contradiction between God-intended existence and human-willed existence is unbridgeable. The Earth’s population has transformed its divine identity into a satanic one — through delusion and spiritual blindness, through falseness and lies, through hatred and violence.

This Earth was originally intended to be a schoolhouse for the children of God, an academy for future gods. Yet humanity now seeks joy in life and its sense of purpose only in material appearances and distractions, thereby no longer needing God and Creator. Likewise, prideful and misguided rational science, as well as selfish spirituality, have rendered an approachable God unnecessary.

This world has become a madhouse and a den of murderers. As a result, all human earthly activity has been condemned to death and is thus subject to falsehood and destruction. Now the measure that God has set is full. The judgment upon humanity has begun, both in the small and in the great.

The regulations and dictatorial laws force humanity to confront themselves. They can no longer run away; the ground has been pulled out from under their feet. Concern for their health and that of their loved ones, as well as existential fears, now offers them the opportunity to turn back to God. Hopelessness and despair, the absence of escape and prospect, have the power to break open conditioned structures of the soul, so that those who were previously unbelieving and despising all that is divine are once again able to pray truly and sincerely.

Although the restrictive measures are accompanied by suffering and sacrifice, from a divine perspective they possess redeeming potential, for they can lead humanity out of its material decay, guiding it back into true divine life — reclaiming the Godly childhood originally intended, as has been its eternal destiny.

Those who have already found God, who are no longer slaves of matter and servants of Mammon, are also affected by these decrees and prohibitions. They must bear the compulsory measures imposed upon the worldly fallen. Yet, with the right approach, these measures help them detach further from the world, withdraw more deeply into the sanctuary of their soul, and establish an even closer connection with the heavenly Father. For one cannot serve two masters⁷, the world and God.

- Mask requirement: The muzzle is a symbol that people should refrain from their godless and selfish conversations. Truthful and divine words have long been buried beneath their meaningless and superficial chatter.
- Social distancing rules: The mandated distancing reflects the spiritual distance of humanity — their lovelessness toward one another, the separation of hearts that they themselves have created, even across generations within families.
- Closure of restaurants: Ever more sophisticated culinary delights along with addiction to food and indulgence have entrenched people's souls into their bodies, fostering widespread lethargy and various illnesses. The measures imposed prevent gastronomic feasting and gluttony.
- Closure of shops: In the abundance of goods that serve humanity's well-being, people no longer need God. Absolute materialism fills their souls, turning them into greedy, selfish slaves of possessions and self-gratification. Deprivation cultivates humility, while the suffering of others opens the way to neighborly help and love.
- Food shortages: Hardship, here too acts as a divine decree, so that in their overindulgence, people may learn to appreciate simple sustenance once more and practice restraint from all kinds of delicacies. The true meaning of the word “food” regains its significance.
- Ban on sports and fitness: For many, sport has become the primary content in life, leaving no room for God. In exaggerated body worship, the soul is lost in the death of matter.
- Ban on culture and concerts: What is understood today as art and culture has little to do with divine values. Art exists to convey spiritual ideas, music is to resound to honor the heavenly Father, and texts are to reveal divine wisdom and truth.
- Closure of brothels, bars, and nightclubs: No explanation is needed here.
- Ban on gatherings — even in churches: In gatherings, much is spoken and debated, yet little true meaning is found. Only rarely do churches exist in which the Spirit of God dwells. Otherwise, the same lifeless, read-aloud words persist in tedious ceremonies, bearing no resemblance to genuine worship of God.
- Curfews — quarantine — travel bans: These measures are intended to show the people that they should remain with themselves, abide within their souls, and turn inward to establish contact with their divine identity.

- Loss of work: Job loss and financial insecurity redirect awareness to life's truly important matters. Humanity stops losing itself in excessive leisure or ostentatious material display, focusing instead on survival. Only in such hardship do most reflect and learn to pray once again — at first, if only for themselves.
- Collapse of financial, banking, and stock systems: The worldly financial system is a merciless practice of boundless enrichment. Money rules the world; serving satanic energies to exercise power and to destroy whatever humanity still exists. Money is a fundamental evil of this world; and since it has become a necessity for all, the Antichrist has gained unrestricted dominion over humankind.
- Population reduction through forced vaccination, state tyranny, epidemics and famines, natural disasters and wars: The Father allows the separation and sorting of humanity, for its earthly purpose has been completely lost. The spiritually blind, whose eyes He cannot open in the coming years, as well as the wicked who continue to keep their hearts tightly closed, He will transfer to other places and guide along paths in the beyond. The good-hearted will either become forebears of the first generations of the Kingdom of Peace or enter the Kingdom of Heaven.

Yes, God has a somewhat different perspective of life and death than humans. He sees the whole, while we perceive only a tiny fragment of our existence. A new age calls for extraordinary measures that make a divine new beginning possible.

Despite understanding the necessity of these measures, my heart is filled with compassion and pity for those affected and harmed, for the worried and despairing — just as God's merciful heart feels and sympathizes with them, ever ready to help and comfort those who open themselves to His love.

For it is not He who brings about these fateful events; it is we ourselves. Through our misguided way of life, we have maneuvered ourselves into this tragic situation. The Father now makes use of the satanic circumstances to lift us from the mire before we risk drowning in it. He allows hardship and tribulation, caused by devils in human form, only until the nations take heed, and a sufficient number of people once again begin to pray earnestly — until faith in a Creator God and heavenly Father is reborn in the hearts of the called children of this creation.

For now the hour of change has come. Jesus Christ returns, and with Him, truth will descend upon this Earth, piercing through all lies. All evil and falsehood will be laid bare in the light of eternal truth. And God will reveal Himself in all His power and glory. And peace will reign on Earth for a long time.

After these things I looked, and behold, a great multitude which no one could number, of all nations, tribes, peoples, and tongues, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, with palm branches in their hands, and crying out with a loud voice, saying, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!" All the angels stood around the throne and the elders and the four living creatures, and fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, saying: "Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom, Thanksgiving and honor and power and might, Be to our God forever and ever. Amen."

Then one of the elders answered, saying to me, "Who are these arrayed in white robes, and where did they come from?" And I said to him, "Sir, you know." So he said to me, "These are the ones who come out of the great tribulation, and washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. Therefore they are before the throne of God, and serve Him day and night in His temple. And He who sits on the throne will dwell among them. They shall neither hunger anymore nor thirst anymore; the sun shall not strike them, nor any heat; for the Lamb who is in the midst of the throne will shepherd them and lead them to living fountains of waters. And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes."

Revelation 7:9-17

Timelines

End of this age

We have reached the end of an era. The return of Christ is imminent. Indeed, He is already here, yet only His awakening and awakened children perceive this. For the fallen world, His appearing will be sudden.

What does this mean for the Earth and for humanity? In the light of God, it becomes clear that the material world is not the reality it claims to be. It is not truly real, but only a temporal appearance. Yet because it pretends to be real and alive in itself—and thus deceives humanity into believing that with death all existence ends—it is a falsehood, a lie. Only the Spirit of God is living reality, truth, and true existence; it is the foundation of creation, permeating and sustaining all things. True is only the spiritual life within material existence; alive is only God within the soul of the Earth and of humankind.

Because this world constitutes a lie, its inhabitants—if they surrender their consciousness to the material world and thus deliver themselves body and soul to matter—can exist only within that lie.

Materialism can never reveal truth. Everything that forms and sustains our understanding is built upon falsehood. All politics, science, and economics have lost themselves in a labyrinth of distorted knowledge and deception. In its material decadence, humanity has created a world full of lovelessness and lack of conscience, full of lust for power and violence, full of deadly achievements. History bears witness to it.

At the end of this age, this is now being revealed without mercy. The Father is allowing the curtain of falsehood to be lifted, and it has already begun—so that all evil may come forth, lay itself bare, and reveal itself in its previously hidden form, in which it may now exert its power for a certain time. Only then will the spirit of lies, together with its vassals, be brought into the light of truth and stripped of its power.

As His children, we may now place ourselves under the special protection and shelter of our Heavenly Father. He says that the less we partake in ungodly earthly thoughts and deeds, the more readily He can protect and guide us. The more we trust Him, the more He can reveal Himself within us, thereby filling our souls with light and love.

If we let go of the world and truly entrust our lives to Him—even in prayer, asking that He might protect us from the vaccine and other hardships or persecutions—then this may indeed come to pass. And should we be forced to take the vaccine, we can and should entrust our health to Him, free from fear and anxiety. Yes, we are to be joyful children, no matter what occurs, for worry, fear, doubt, and despair open Satan's door into our hearts.

Satan says: "If you live in sin, you cannot love God." That is a lie. Only our enduring love for our heavenly Father opens us to His grace and forgiveness. Only He can lift us from the mire and cleanse us of sin. Even if we still live in sin and remain bound by weaknesses of the flesh, this must not keep us from praying and loving Him—for only He sets us free. His heart is wide open to us, His word resounds across this Earth: *"Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest!"*⁸

Beloved brothers and sisters, many of us have come from the star worlds and the heavens to serve God in this time of renewal. We have been instructed and prepared, and we must always remain mindful of this. First in faith in the Father through Jesus Christ, and then in certainty through love for Jesus Christ. We must also hold firmly in our hearts that this Earth is not our true home. We are here to prepare ourselves for our heavenly home, in the service of divine love and mercy.

May the heavenly Father be our light and life, may He fill our hearts, guard and protect us, and be our all in all.

A vision

The Father shows me how matters stand with Satan. Since the beginning of the twentieth century, this fallen spirit has been granted great freedom, though his influence was still held within certain limits. Around the year 2000, the reins were loosened further, and since 2020 he has now been completely free. He may now act and rule as he pleases. Not that he himself exercises violence—no—but he spreads a vast veil of delusion, lies, falsehood, and violence over this Earth, and has already done so. His diabolical energy permeates all thinking that corresponds to him, rendering it entirely satanic. His demons are incarnated; they sit in many leading positions of power, they hold the wheel of the earthly vessel firmly in their hands and steer it straight toward an abyss.

In their fear of an illusory pandemic, their unspeakable blindness, and naive obedience to authority, the majority of the Earth's population has been delivered over to these wolves in sheep's clothing, these self-proclaimed "improvers of the world" and hypocritical philanthropists—completely at their mercy. Now the minds and reason of the masses can be steered in any desired direction, for satanic manipulation of opinion has become firmly anchored in the global collective consciousness. Politically correct and law-abiding citizens have been trained to be pandemic-correct partisans.

Those who now think, desire, and act in ways that are politically, pandemically, or religiously nonconformist, are shamelessly defamed and condemned as traitors to "freedom", denounced as criminals against the health of their fellow human beings, persecuted and prosecuted—or dismissed as fanatical followers of apocalyptic sectarianism, publicly ridiculed, ostracized, and humiliated.

In this way, humanity prepares its own downfall. Through their delusion and malice, people bear full responsibility for the apocalyptic events of these days, which will ultimately befall them and become their "Judgment Day"—the day of their death.

Not all God's children will witness or survive the destruction of the current world, caused by the comet, the resulting pole shift, and the three days of darkness; indeed, some may soon leave this planet and enter their heavenly home. Yet many who are faithful to the Heart of Jesus will enter the new era. They will be the founders of a God-devoted civilization and the forebears of the generations to come. More on this in...

Intervals between times of tribulation

There are various reasons for the timing of the Last Judgment, or rather, the intervals between individual periods of hardship are arranged so that each generation must experience a phase of trial. Almost every person must, at least once in their earthly life, endure a bitter period of war, a major natural catastrophe, or a serious illness. This has always been the case throughout history.

Those who fully experienced the horrors of the Second World War have already passed through a time of trial, which is why most of them will no longer witness the great tribulation or the hardships of the apocalyptic events; they have already left this Earth or may soon do so. Therefore, it is primarily the elderly who have died or will soon die due to Corona and its associated circumstances—or those with pre-existing conditions, who have likewise already endured or are still enduring a period of suffering.

Some of these companions in suffering, however, will remain on Earth until the last two or three years of the end times, or even during the three days of darkness. They will therefore still share in the ongoing tribulation, yet they will not need to participate in the reconstruction of destroyed cities and infrastructure—which will be required due to the war, the imminent passage of the comet, and the resulting disasters—because they already fulfilled this task in the previous century after the Second World War.

Since the enemy from the heavens is expected to arrive in late autumn 2027, only a few people over eighty-eight years of age will witness this event—this number was revealed to me. Yet, the end-time events offer the elder generations the opportunity to fulfill, at least in part, the life-purpose God has set for them, for heavenly grace is extraordinarily efficacious during this period.

Especially from Christmas 2020 onward, the divine radiance of grace is greatly intensified. The prerequisite for receiving this blessing is an open, loving, and above all, fear- and worry-free heart. This state is best attained through devoted love for our Heavenly Father in Jesus Christ.

Temporal sequence of spiritual visions

It is not uncommon that visions seen by God's children to be interpreted as events occurring simultaneously or in close succession, even though the events themselves take place years or even decades apart. The reason is that spiritual processes are not subject to time; therefore, the medium experiences them within God's omnipresence, or rather is granted insight into them from that perspective.

However, once the necessity of certain temporal cycles is understood—arising from material and spiritual processes of redemption, and from the development-related separation of spirits—the present spiritual vision is understood as a sequence of events conditioned by time, with inevitable intervals between them.

In the case of visions that involve end-time and apocalyptic events, the interval is about seven years.

Why approximately? The Father will shorten the time if there is a danger that a great number of Christians who are already walking at His hand, may have their love for Him taken from them through spiritual and physical coercion or violence; or that false teachings—laced with elements of truth—or even false Christs might lead many of God's children away from the true faith. Yet He will extend the time if there remains the possibility that children who have thus far been lost or undecided may still board the Ark of His heart.

God's merciful love alone determines the timing of the final events; He always has the last word.

Many future events are already revealed in the spiritual realms. Much evil will come to pass—but also much good. In the end, the veil of darkness will be lifted from this Earth, and the light of truth will penetrate it and its inhabitants: for some to salvation, for others, to judgment.

And though—or perhaps precisely because—Satan has free rein and may act as the unrestricted ruler of this world, God's army is preparing for battle; parts of it have already armed themselves and are actively working in the light. Many of their loving thoughts and prayers illuminate the darkness and leave lasting lights—bringing ruin to falsehood and thereby weakening satanic powers.

Yes, Jesus Christ needs many intercessors who enable spiritual radiance—intercessors for all humanity, both the good and the evil.

Beloved brothers and sisters, we are fighting a spiritual battle, whose reality we are not always aware of. Yet this battle is more real than any material fight or war. Every loving and merciful thought that flows from our hearts into the darkness has the power to fill it with light. Every thought of love sent toward the wrongdoers of this time gathers glowing coals above their heads,⁹ which in due time will ignite with sparks of light, that soften and awaken their hardened consciences. And the more love for Jesus Christ is present in prayer, the greater its power. This is an irrefutable reality, this is divine truth, of this we must be certain.

Questions and answers

Various questions, both asked and yet to be asked, will be addressed here, before and after the fact.

Am I a conspiracy theorist in Christian garb? Or a bigoted and misguided person who uses the current measures and events surrounding Corona to substantiate his apocalyptic views?

I have already revealed my spiritual origin and destiny in the preceding text. As a mere human, I am a realist whose eyes have been opened by the Heavenly Father. He has guided me so that I have gained insight into both the materially-satanic and the spiritually-divine motives behind these end-time events. I clearly discern the signs of the times in biblical revelations and according to modern prophecies.

Moreover, due to my end-time calling, I am also in close contact with Jesus Christ; He grants me insight not only into the present anti-Christian background events but also foresight into the coming times.

All that is to come is grounded in the current state of the world and its rulers. From this snapshot, it is apparent that, in broad terms, events will unfold as described in this book. Should the possibility arise for a mitigated outcome, God will make it known and bring it to realization. This is my fervent hope, and for it I pray.

Why do I denounce the conspiracy scenario in all its details if ultimately it serves the establishment of God's Kingdom of Peace?

On one hand, the connections between the material, satanic, and divine motives can only be understood by having both a comprehensive insight and an overall perspective on the end-time events. On the other hand, this also serves as an exposé and a denunciation of unscrupulousness, falsehood, and lies. As a child of my Heavenly Father and a servant of truth, it is my duty and responsibility toward my brothers and sisters and fellow human beings to reveal and lay bare blindness, falsehood, and lies.

It is hard to believe that there are indeed people who want to rule the whole world—and that they are capable of doing so.

History shows that there have always been conquerors of the world, and those who desired to be; why should there be none now?

Yet this is now a different kind of war, a different kind of conquest than we know and expect. For governments do not kill their subjects in war against other nations; no, they wage war against their own populations through fear-mongering, humiliation, stigmatization, manipulation, and lies. This has been and continues to be initiated worldwide by a political, economic, health, financial, and media network, established over the course of the past decades through globalization, which is now in the hands of a few unscrupulous power-hungry individuals.

Should we now drop everything in view of the impending events? How should we live now and in the future?

The Father wishes us to remain positive, not to wander in a doomsday mindset, or to indulge in pessimism. We can and should continue to live our lives actively and within the possibilities given to us, in trust in Him. Yes, “even if the world were to end tomorrow, we should still plant an apple tree.”

It also makes no sense to try to provide enlightenment about Corona and its sinister underlying causes everywhere. Clarifying words are appropriate only where thoughtful questions are asked and suitable opportunities arise.

Likewise, spiritual enlightenment and the proclamation of Christ's return should be carried out with care. One should follow divine guidance and inspiration, and not make oneself a prophet. A God-loving heart will always indicate how, when, and where one may, should and can evangelize. Only in the second half of the end-time events shall and will there be, a broad proclamation and revelation of Christ.

What is true about the reports of UFOs and extraterrestrials?

There are no extraterrestrials in UFOs here, I emphasize this again and again. “Extraterrestrials” exist only in the sense of earthly humans incarnated from other stars. The UFO lie serves, on the one hand, to divert attention from anti-Christian machinations and to focus collective interest, making large groups easier to lead. On the other hand, alleged encounters with and sightings of UFOs reveal the preparation and implementation of Project Blue Beam. Using this technology, acoustic phenomena and visual holograms or simulations can be generated in the atmosphere. The method has now advanced to the point where all kinds of sounds and images can be made to appear and resound in the “heavens,” such as a trumpet call or a piercing voice. As projected images or “film presentations,” UFOs in particular—as well as an approaching comet—can be simulated. Religious holograms or even a messianic figure are also possible.

These staged events serve, on one hand, for general deception and traumatization, enabling the possibility of influencing the psyche of believers, the superstitious, fanatics, and the disoriented. On the other hand, they also create a confusing chaos, allowing unrestricted access to and control over all worldly domains.

Economic and financial globalization, the creation of pandemics and the resulting establishment of a worldwide health dictatorship, the wars initiated to trigger mass migrations, the climate lie, surveillance technology, the consolidation of the public media, and much more have been sophisticated moves in this chess game. Through these illusionary projections, the blinded and dazed humanity is checkmated—now anything can be done with it.

(Whether this plan will actually be carried out remains uncertain; however, such an operation is certainly possible.)

Why is it always about good and evil? Surely there are shades in between.

Yes, of course there is not only black and white. Yet when it comes to the separation of spirits, there are no compromises. There is only either-or: for God and selfless love, or for the world and the love of self. One cannot serve two masters—God and the world. Certainly, there are degrees of capacity for love and individual spiritual talents, but here it is about the decision that counts, not the outcome. What matters is the sincere will that brings to life the commandment, “Love God above all and your neighbor as yourself.” This is not possible if God is treated as one among many alongside the world, as has already been emphasized several times. He wants whole hearts, not half ones. What husband or wife who loves their partner deeply would accept a rival? Yet the motive of our Heavenly Father is not selfish; He acts in selfless love, for He can grant His divine nature to His children only if their hearts are completely emptied of worldly claims and desires. Only in this way can He protect them through time and make them divinely blissful in all eternity.

How should we deal with the suffering of our children? They have to wear this senseless mask, that harms their health.

As already mentioned, the children of God must bear suffering together with the world. Adults are generally more able to do this, but the suffering of our little ones weighs heavily on our hearts. Especially in schools, where the mask sometimes has to be worn continuously, harm can occur.

If a child has a medical certificate, they should make use of this possibility of exemption despite the (invisible) pressure from the school administration and classmates—if they wish to and are able to endure it. If serious problems arise, or accusations of a supposed risk of infection come from blind supporters of the measures, and the child or their parents are constantly provoked or shunned, this cross can only be borne if the person has either a strong soul or a deep, heartfelt connection to Jesus Christ that carries them through this storm. Without a trusting surrender of earthly life to the love of Jesus, psychological harm can occur—especially in children; in that case, it is better to wear a mask. This, of course, also applies to adults.

Should we get vaccinated, and should our families??

This question is asked again and again. And although it is better to avoid vaccination, the Father does not give a clear answer here. Why is that?

On one hand, He allows uncertainty and ambiguity, as these can build a bridge to Him in one's own heart. There, each person receives an individual answer.

On the other hand, it is necessary that God's representatives be able to move about freely; therefore, under His protection they may choose to undergo vaccination. Other apostles and disciples He will guide in such a way that they, too, can move freely and unhindered even without vaccination.

Overall, it is indeed so: the more we inwardly withdraw from the world by avoiding its godless activities, the more often we go—away from all the noise of the world—into the silence of our hearts and enter into a familiar, intimate connection with Jesus and speak with Him, the more we entrust our lives to Him, and the more deeply and sincerely we love Him, the more He can ensure that we and our children are spared from the effects of the COVID vaccination and are kept safe and protected from all the other plagues of the end times—and the more readily He can fill us with His Spirit.

To fundamental questions such as: "Should we approve of the seizure of power by unscrupulous devils, with all the reprisals, the destruction of livelihoods through unemployment and mass business closures, and the resulting famines, especially in developing countries!? Should we welcome total control through dictatorial use of force and mass manipulation!? Can we still sleep peacefully knowing that forced mass vaccination will cost countless lives!? Should we rejoice that we are permanently irradiated with microwaves through 5G!? Even if ultimately all serves the greater good, yet worldwide there reigns unspeakable hardship and misery throughout the world...!" I answer:

No, we should not rejoice over evil, over conscienceless violence and the cruelty of the soul. For evil in itself is not good; only the divine contained within evil—the life-giving, foundational principle—is good, and this always ultimately brings about the self-destruction of evil.

Indeed, it truly depends on a person's perspective and spiritual depth, grounded in love for God and the divine presence contained therein. If one cannot view events from a divine perspective—and only those who walk hand in hand with Jesus can do so—one will have no peaceful moment in the face of worldly events and will become lost in fear and worry. One must completely abandon human-conditioned thinking in order to recognize the light within darkness, the truth within lies, the perfect within the imperfect. Only then is the treasure within the cross revealed. Whoever carries their cross with trust will find salvation.

It is not God who brings about evil and suffering; it is humanity itself that is the wrongdoer. God merely allows it, for He respects the free will of every person, which is the fundamental condition for raising true children of God. And when He does intervene, it is only to end the world's suffering and to establish within it a kingdom of peace and love—this certainty we should always carry in our hearts.

For even He grows weary of the blind humanity inflicting so much violence upon itself. For millennia, the Earth has been soaked with the blood of countless nameless physical and spiritual atrocities. The "Thus far and no farther" has been reached; the measure God set before humanity is slowly but surely overflowing.

I, Samuel, sent by the Father to this earth to proclaim the Last Judgment, to proclaim the return of Jesus Christ, bear witness to this. Amen.

Questions from me – answers from spirits

If the present corona events bring an end to the inhuman systems, are they therefore good?

Within everything that appears evil, there lies a seed of good. It must be so; otherwise evil could not exist at all. The foundation of all life is Love, is God, and is therefore good. Thus every evil deed contains within it a divine core. And since all evil continually consumes itself—having no life of its own—what ultimately remains is always the good. In the end, the divine life reveals itself in every form of transience and manifestation.

To ask it again

Is it not so that everything old must pass away so that something new can come into being? The present world, with its violent and inhuman systems, must collapse, must fall in upon itself, so that a new world of peace and love may arise. Thus this collapse is necessary, the destruction of all power- and money-hungry principles, of every blindly materialistic way of life, is inevitable. So is what is happening now therefore good?

Yes, in essence it is good, for every blind and evil action must in the end be subject to the light and to love. The insidious seizure of power and the subjugation of humanity by Satan and his accomplices—his evident appearance and activity—must and will ultimately serve so that evil judges and destroys itself. Only then will the world transform into a realm of peace and love.

Must the transition into the new age truly unfold in such an inhuman and evil way? Must everything happen as it now appears to be unfolding, as it has been foretold by seers and prophets?

No, that would not be necessary. Yet because of the free will of all human beings, the Father permits that all evil reveal itself— indeed, that it must ultimately be revealed in the light of eternal truth. Nothing is fixed, there is no predestination for this time. And yet the Father in His omniscience knows all that will come to pass. He proclaims it to His servants, who pass it on to the world so that humanity may reflect and have the opportunity to enter the Ark, which the Father's children are now raising in His name, in and through His merciful love.

However the coming years may unfold, the child of God who now entrusts itself to the Father is safe in Him—already experiencing the divine in satanic activity, seeing the divine core in all evil deeds, and recognizing perfection within imperfection.

Why must even the children of God be subjected to these persecutions and acts of violence? Can the Father not take them from the Earth, as in a physical rapture?

Suffering will befall above all the godless, the materialists, the egoists; they despair at the loss of their possessions and their loved ones. They are helpless in the face of death, which will spread its power over this Earth and claim countless victims.

The disciples of Jesus, however, will be sheltered in His heart, in suffering as in joy, for the world no longer holds sway over them. Therefore it is so important for you now to entrust your hearts *and your lives to the Heavenly Father, lest you too be seized and ensnared by suffering and death. "For your adversary, the devil, prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour."*¹⁰

Those who now awaken in Jesus Christ, and those who have already awakened, are incarnated on this Earth at this time of renewal for good reason. You are the workers in the Lord's vineyard; you have been trained and prepared. You have been endowed with talents to unfold divine life within you and around you. You form the Body of Christ so He may return in you and through you. The return of Christ is a spiritual one, occurring in His children; you manifest the Christ spirit. Therefore, you stand in special grace, so that this manifestation of God may take place. For this reason, a physical rapture would be the opposite of what is truly needed.

To what extent can the Father help us if we face forced vaccination, loss of our possessions, or even imprisonment?

The Father guides each soul according to their mission. There is no universally applicable guidance or protection. Some believers will be called away, others will face persecution, and some will remain unharmed. Only when one places their life in God's hands can truly God-given guidance take place; then the person moves within their God-intended function and role. They experience supernatural protection and heavenly peace, independent of external circumstances, for they become part of the spiritual resurrection Body of Christ.

*You still have time to enter into the divine dimension, to become who you are in Jesus Christ. Yet times will be difficult under the burden of evil; and if you do not stand on a secure spiritual foundation, there is a danger that you will be torn from the hand of God. Therefore, let the world be the world and place your hearts into the heart of Jesus, so that He may prepare you and fill you with His Spirit — just as He once filled His apostles and disciples with the Holy Spirit of truth, life, and love.*¹¹

Spiritual insights

A difficult birth

In the material realms of creation, many light-filled beings from a variety of stars perceive the material and spiritual events on this Earth. They pray for us and send us light and love. At times, spiritually gifted individuals allow these beings to make themselves known, supporting those in need of spiritual help, even through the audible and visible dimensions.

But it is not only inhabitants of this world who sense that something extraordinary is occurring on Earth – inhabitants of the spiritual realms also sense it and convey corresponding messages. Some of these messages are indeed of divine origin; intended to warn and prepare the Earth's inhabitants for what is to come. Their messengers are bearers of light and love, fulfilling a divine mission.

In the spheres of deceased deluded and evil souls, fierce storms are unleashed, violent hordes sweep across the darkened Earth, reinforcing the ruthlessness and malice of earthy anti-Christian powers and tempting unstable or mentally burdened individuals toward murder and assassination.

In the somewhat lighter, yet pride- and conceit-laden spheres, the most diverse speculations circulate regarding the end-time events, stirred by the perceptible movements of spiritual forces. These spirits, often trapped in half-knowledge and pomposity, do not convey comprehensive insight or understanding in their messages through clairvoyant and sensitive individuals. Instead they portray the renewal of the world according to their own desires and fantasies. They speak of extraterrestrials arriving in spaceships to save humanity, or they romanticize the events, transforming a difficult birth into a non-violent ascent into a higher dimension – a festival with angelic singing, harp music, and automatic enlightenment. In doing so, they endear themselves to spiritually complacent and sensation-seeking people, who then readily believe everything proclaimed to them under a guise of false holiness.

That a worldwide purification, requiring great sacrifice, is necessary – and that afterward a laborious and effortful establishment of a new civilization must take place, in which the new spirituality must first be internalized and then continuously carried forward in the coming age – finds no place in such mediumistic messages. Nor do they acknowledge in their teachings and proclamations that Jesus Christ is the Father and Creator of all life, the spiritual center not only of this Earth, but of all creation. Instead, they elevate Jesus to the level of ascended masters, or at best present him as one avatar among many.

Therefore, it is urgently necessary to stand on a firm Christian foundation, built on the awareness that Jesus Christ is the one true God and that there is no other besides Him. In this way He can lead us to the right understanding, for He alone is the true Light of the world.¹²

The wrath of God

In the Bible, we often read about the wrath of God that comes upon people when they live in grave sin. But what is actually meant by the wrath and punishment of God? Such expressions are placed in their true light the more the heart of our Heavenly Father opens itself to us.

Then it becomes clear that God's wrath is in truth His zeal of love, which always seeks to rescue souls from drowning, and that His "punishment" is aimed toward leading lost souls back onto the right path, so that they may not fall into the abyss of spiritual death. In this sense, wrath and punishment are indeed aspects of divine mercy, even though they first bring suffering upon a person or a nation.

Thus, the years of tribulation are indeed a judgment permitted by God upon humanity, yet the motive behind it and within it is solely divine love and compassion. God allows evil, that we may find our way back to the good, that we may once again return to our calling as children of God.

What, then, must we do so that divine grace may lay hold of us, that we may find salvation in suffering, that we may see the light in the darkness, that we may recognize the treasure hidden in the cross?

The Father says: *"Love God above all else and your neighbor as yourself. Forgive one another your sins, as I forgive your sins. Be merciful, as I am merciful."*¹³

One might also say: "When you find yourself in the forgiving love of Jesus, He writes your sins in the sand."

And just as Jesus writes our sins in the sand, so too must we forgive, for we are all sinners before God. This acknowledgement of our own faults and sinfulness is a prerequisite for receiving liberation. It is the admission that, because of our fall, we are imperfect in God's love, and the recognition that only our Heavenly Father is perfect. It is the confession that we need God's protection and guidance; without it, we cannot safely navigate this life. When we approach Him with childlike trust, we open His heart within our own, and are kept safe in Him in life and death.

It requires humility to admit that without the Father in Jesus Christ, one cannot receive forgiveness and, therefore, salvation from evil. Here, humility does not mean servile or submissive; rather, it demands great courage, sincerity, and truthfulness.

The self-righteous ego always struggles with humility, guilt, and forgiveness. It constantly justifies itself—this is the nature of the self-centered soul, which we experience daily within and around ourselves. Yet through this narrow gate of the heart, through this eye of the needle, lies the secret of true childship of God, in which God's wrath and punishment are transformed into divine love and mercy.

Light at the end of this dark chapter

Beloved brothers and sisters, despite the vivid depictions of current and forthcoming events, this is not a book meant to spread worry or fear. For as the course of events unfolds, it becomes clear that this is a message of hope, joy, and confidence. Though it may now appear—and though the coming years may seem—that evil will prevail, and even if it seems that all is lost, our Heavenly Father will intervene and bring an end to satanic schemes.

He will then establish His Kingdom of Peace and Love, and lies and falsehood will judge themselves in the light of eternal truth. But He will fill His children with His Spirit, just as the prepared apostles were once filled with the divine Spirit of love, for this is now the time of special grace for them. We can be certain of this, for His love has revealed it to us. The coming years will bear witness to all that the prophets of all times have foretold—and now the Book of Revelation unfolds before us with clarity.

The sooner we decide to place our lives—and the lives of our family and friends—trusting into the hands of the Heavenly Father, the sooner we will enter into the inner peace that the world does not know.¹⁴

Above all, we can and should use this phase of the old world's downfall to detach ourselves even more from it. For us, the coming years are an instrument of preparation guiding us into the Heart of Jesus. We see falsehood and violence, we recognize lies and deceit; this awareness takes away our love for the world and directs our longing even more toward Jesus Christ. We know about the separation of spirits, and we know on which side we stand to experience the presence of Jesus, to love and live in Him. Thus, the apocalyptic events become a blessing for us, the children of God, while for those enslaved to matter and the love of self, they become a judgment.

Under no circumstances must we permit ourselves to be carried away by the tide of fear and worry. Rather, we must strive with all our heart to love our Father more and more so that we may see the world through His eyes. For only then can we see the good in evil and wickedness, recognizing the divine goal: the renewal of the world in the Spirit of Jesus Christ.

This prayer should accompany us in this endeavor:

"Dear Father, who dwells in heaven, grant us deep insight into your heart, that we, as your children, come to recognize you more and more in your divine Fatherly love; for only through this can we entrust our lives completely to you, whatever may come to pass. May we be ready when you knock, so that you may take residence in our souls with all your Fatherly love in Jesus."

Tasks of the workers in the Lord's vineyard

Every human being, according to the structure of their soul, has received not only earthly talents but also spiritual gifts; indeed, earthly abilities and interests often arise from spiritual capacities and identities. Within these embodied spiritual gifts lie individual skills and traits that enable the soul to enter into true service to God — gifts that endure for all eternity.

All divine attributes are present within the spirit of every human heart. Yet, in the combination of body, soul, and spirit — the fullness of the human person — certain divine qualities come to expression more strongly than others.

Just as a body consists of various parts, organs, and materials, so too is the spiritual Body of Christ composed of diverse innate dispositions.¹⁵ Each part is entrusted with a specific, unique task. Every awakened Christian embodies a divine attribute at the core of their being, revealing it to humanity in a deeply personal way.

The talents contained within the soul unfold along the path of awakening, enabling the person to consciously and actively enter into the service of God. For most, this occurs only in the life beyond the veil; only a few come to recognize, even during their earthly existence, the fullness of their God-given personality.

Now as we have entered a time of transformation and divine grace, an ever-growing number of souls will awaken already during their earthly life to their divine destiny. They are called and chosen to work in the Lord's vineyard in this time of change, serving humanity with the divine gifts bestowed upon them; they form the earthly Body of Christ, bringing about His spiritual return.

How then are talents distributed among God's children? Some of them appear to have no remarkable gift, yet they live, unnoticed by the world, in unconditional love for others — they pay little attention to it, as their love comes naturally. Others possess immense power in intercession and prayer; they work quietly and in secret, yet are diligently active in the spiritual realm. Some are in contact with the departed and with angels, thereby bearing witness to a life beyond death and a world of light and love. Others are endowed with healing abilities, anointing suffering souls with the balm of God's merciful love. Some draw images of wisdom from their hearts, awakening a hunger for spiritual understanding in others. Others reveal the love of Jesus through words, igniting a longing in people to experience such love firsthand. Certain individuals can see into the future, serving as warning voices to humanity, so that it may reflect and turn away from godless pursuits. And through a few, the Father Himself speaks directly to His children, unveiling to them His merciful love.

Thus, according to the Body of Christ, there exist countless other ways in which God is expressed through the identities and spiritual capacities of His children.

That is why it is so important to ask the Father to lead one into His divine destiny, that the gifts of the Spirit may be fully realized. It is not uncommon for long periods to pass in which seemingly nothing extraordinary occurs. Yet the child of God, without knowing it, is already a walking light in the darkness of this earthly world, through their love for the Father and for others.

Occasionally, children of God who are spiritually sensitive may, because of their radiant otherworldly aura, be disturbed—or even at times physically attacked, tormented, or harmed—by departed souls. This can also result from a profound experience of love or a traumatic event. This phenomenon comes into proper divine balance only when the person turns to Jesus Christ, asking for full protection and for the proper alignment of any innate or inherited predispositions they have brought with them or inherited. With a little more trusting patience – and all will be well.

In general, all spiritual aberrations and deviations can be healed—whether through humble and patient surrender to God, through intercessory prayer, through an empowered healer, through angelic powers of the beyond, or directly by the Father Himself, from whom all healing emanates. The prerequisite, however, is that spiritual anomalies as well as foreign spiritual influences must first be recognized as such. For if one does not stand on the foundation of truth, one lacks the needed light to, in the Spirit, discern between true and false, right and wrong.

A Father-medium receives images and words in various ways

There exists, for one, the “inauthentic,” that is to say the imitated Father-word. This refers to spiritual thoughts and words of God, stored within the soul, received externally, whether read or heard, which, when they unite with the divine Spirit in the heart of the soul, come to life. To give it voice is not a true Father-word, and yet at times it flows forth of its own accord when the child of God keeps the Father in mind.

The Father knows this and permits its dissemination, provided that too many soul-originated opinions do not blend into the message and the mediator brings forth nourishing spiritual fruits. However, the medium is often unaware of these processes and believes they proclaim an actual word of the Father. Herein lies the danger: that, over time, the person may lose themselves—or even go astray—within their heart, so that the messages are so distorted by worldly views that satanic energies may make use of the word.

Then there is the wordless Father-word, received through divine impulses in the heart of the soul rather than through words, which the medium clothes in his own words according to their own manner of speech. Here it is entirely possible that personal views flow into it, which supplement or fill out the Father-word. Here too, dissemination is permitted, for the fundamental message—though more or less individually colored—remains the same. Yet only so long as the Christian mediator keeps their heart with Jesus. If they stray from the straight path, this word, too, may be altered in its substance.

The immediate Father-word gives the words as they are. The medium hears or sees them clearly and distinctly within. Yet they must still pass through the sphere of the recipient's soul, whereby a certain linguistic coloring comes about. Here there are great differences, according to the degree of inner freedom of the medium. The spectrum ranges from simple, general expressions of love to more specific themes with definite statements; the latter, however, occur rather rarely, as such messages require at least a re-birth of the soul.

Yet in most cases, the reception of the word and spiritual awakening go hand in hand, for the living word of God within the heart of the soul fills it with His Spirit. The Spirit, in turn, carries the word into and through the soul. One flows into the other; one gives rise to the other.

It is also possible that a medium unconsciously shifts back and forth between the different modes of reception, as they lack the necessary practice or inner certainty; therefore, views from the subconscious may also creep in. Yet when the Christian abides in intimate love with God, it is good and blessed by Him; for heartfelt love for Jesus Christ bears witness only to truth, whatever the level may be.

As a general principle: the more free a person is from earthly conditioning, views, and prejudices; the more they have detached themselves from the world; the less their soul is entangled in the flesh; and the deeper their love for their heavenly Father—the more clearly and truthfully the divine thoughts rise to the surface.

In this time of transformation and transition, God is in urgent need of channels through which to communicate. Therefore, He makes use of all that is available to Him. Ultimately, everything serves Him for good, since even what appears to be imperfect, is brought to life by the divinely perfect principle. Within all forms of manifestation and expression there is a divine core, that reveals its effect in the loving light of our heavenly Father.

Because of the differentiated forms of revelation, different soul-structures can be served. This is also necessary, for the human souls here on Earth move within very unique spheres in the beyond, each with its own entrance and distinct vibrations. A message that is not compatible can at times hinder spiritual progress or even cause harm.

In view of these medial circumstances, it is important to stand on the foundation of truth, for then one can receive something from anywhere; the sphere is open, and the vibration is divine. With Jesus, we always have the proper light to classify, discern, and separate received words. An additional aid can be the writings of Jakob Lorber, with which one can, if necessary, verify everything truthfully.

Yet the goal of every believer should be to hear the word of the Father within themselves. When Christians feel a deep yearning for the presence of Jesus in their hearts, they already have the testimony that He wishes to come into contact with His child. This is true and certain, for the Father Himself longs greatly to speak with each of His children, to share His love with them personally, and to fill them with His love.

Therefore, it is necessary to enter into the stillness of the heart each day and there, in humility and with joyful expectation, await the coming of Jesus.

This devotion kindles the communion of hearts that we are to achieve in the years ahead. The heavenly hosts stand ready to support us. All the archangels, patriarchs, prophets, apostles, all those who were with Jesus during His time on Earth (some of whom have now returned to the flesh) stand ready to serve us—those who have dared to undertake the risk of putting on the earthly garment in this time of transformation and renewal.

Proclamation for the children of God in the struggle of the worlds

Provisions from Heaven

Let your heart be a cradle of peace, of joy, and of divine love.

Let your inner being be serene and sincere, like the dignity of a tree, its roots grounding you firmly in the soil of love, which is called humility.

Let your arms be instruments of love, bestowing the fruits of divine love into the overgrown gardens of despair, hopelessness, and sorrow.

Let the warmth of your heart reflect the forgiveness and mercy of God, serving love in selfless devotion.

Yes, let your heart be a spring of love, inexhaustible and invincible.

Let your courage be like that of a lion, vanquishing your fears in the dark nights of the garden of your soul.

Let patience be your strongest weapon in battle against your foes, and when you master it, eternity shall lift you from the raging current of time and immerse you in the timeless sea of divine love.

*Let your eyes shine like suns, radiating your inner life outward;
so shall your bright gaze warm the hearts of men, and speak to them the language of love and the wisdom of God.
Thus shall you become a true warrior of Christ,
a soldier of heaven, a knight of your King, a messenger of God.*

And so, one day, you shall return to your home, child of love, clothed in the robe of divinity, having fulfilled your task upon the earth.

You shall rest after this long and grievous path of struggle upon the breast of your heavenly Father, and His heart shall be your eternal dwelling place for all eternity.

*This shall be your bread, and this shall be your wine,
your heavenly nourishment, strengthening and sustaining you always on the earthly path you have chosen to walk, out of love, in love, and for love.*

Conversation with a perfected spirit

The spirit: Greetings. Know that you know me very well, for we have already met. I would like to tell you something about time and eternity.

You know that when a soul has completed the cycle of development and perfection, he finally enters into divine perfection, that is independent of time and space. From that moment on, he lives as a spirit in a world of pure spirit, where he is not only free from the bonds of matter, but where time and space no longer present any obstacle. He is then a spirit filled with God and, accordingly, can in spirit—that is, truly and genuinely in the spiritual world—place himself in any time and any place within this creation. Now imagine such a spirit placing himself back into the time of his earthly life...

He visits himself, so to speak ...?

Yes, he sees and observes himself from the timeless eternal dimension, he comes into contact with his struggling, still earthbound former self. Can you understand that?

Yes, that is clear to me.

But not only that. With divine permission, he has the ability to influence the heart of his developing soul by touching it with his realized love of God. At times, he may guide the course of his earthly self and actively support his good intentions. And in special cases, he is allowed to reveal the destiny inherent in his 'alter ego' and bring it to fruition with him and within him. In this connection, he is even allowed to contact his earthly self and speak with him — yet he never makes himself known as who he truly is.

That is wonderful. That the heavenly Father makes this possible reveals entirely new insights into His love and mercy. I suddenly feel so happy (tears running down my cheeks). May I ask who you are?

You have already answered that yourself. And know this: we shall most certainly meet again. Be greeted and blessed from the heart of Jesus Christ. Continue your path unwaveringly, and I tell you: you will certainly reach your destiny.

After a few hours

I see you still have thoughts.

Yes. I now know that you are me.

(A deep silence, then:) Yes, that is so.

Have you already had multiple human lives? Have you, then, already incarnated several times as different people, and yet as one and the same being?

Yes.

Who are you at the highest level? Who are you—or I—overall?

I cannot tell you that now. The time is not yet ripe. But your time will come, your heart will reveal it to you. Yet you already sense it. Be patient, keep the commandments of Jesus, and you will become one not only with Him, but also one with me. For I am actually within you as your divine self. Do you understand that?

I do not see it clearly; it is more of an intuition. Far away and yet very near. But I know that in the spirit of the Archangel Michael or Elijah, I act as the forerunner of the Lord. Are you Elijah?

Discover it within yourself. Yahweh is with you. Amen

Final message to the brothers and sisters

Beloved brothers and sisters, since I abide in the heart of the Father — within which creation roils and rages — I see that Judgment is drawing near, and that the Father speaks with utmost seriousness in His words. The Godhead is greatly stirred by the satanic behavior of human beings and their unwillingness to finally reflect and open themselves to their divine origin, so that they may come to recognize His great love. May the blind and deluded might yet come to see that evil deceives and uses them — and that, together with it, they will plunge into the abyss of darkness.

At the same time, I feel a love in the heart of Jesus, that wishes to enfold all things and redeem them instantly. His heart bleeds in the face of the deadly turmoil of this world. Yes, Jesus Christ suffers. Again I see the tear that I once witnessed as a comforting angel in Gethsemane in His eye; again I see the struggling Jesus, wrestling with Himself in the face of humanity's spiritual death.

God, who has subjected Himself to love for His children, now wrestles with Himself over the timing of His intervention. His long-suffering contends with His urgent care, which longs to bring an end to this course of events. Both are imbued with warmth of heart and mercy.

The spirits of God are in turmoil as never before, since Lucifer turned away from God to walk and fall into spiritual darkness along with his host. As never before, since Adam and Eve ate from the tree of transience and death. As never before, since Noah built his ark and the great flood drowned the sinners of the old world. As never before, since Jesus was betrayed and nailed to the cross for the redemption of the sins of this world and all creation.

So it shall be, true and certain, that the Father will enfold His children in His heart and grant them all His love. He will give to those who already have, and take from those who do not want His love.¹⁶ He will give everything to those who now open their hearts to Him and to their fellow human beings, patient and full of love. Those who now have taken up their cross¹⁷ for this brief time, who do not fear death for His sake.

And the wicked will be struck by God's righteous wrath and His zeal, for He will weigh their works on the scales of justice, guided by the reins of divine wisdom. The coming Judgment will once again reveal the God of the Old Covenant, the unyielding severity of the Godhead will judge the lost and the blinded, and the blood of the martyrs will be avenged before the eyes of Satan's accusers.

This is true and certain—so true and certain as there is a God of love, truth, and justice, who has commissioned me to write these lines and to publish this book, who has sent me to this Earth to proclaim His imminent return.

Amen, His name is Holy, Holy, Holy, Amen.

The night had already sealed its wounds

Monuments of this age, stranded on the shores of compassion.

Decay lay over the promised land,
over its places of lust, over its Babylonian towers;
and its scent was death's delight and its seductive song numbed the souls while they danced their last dance in the pale light of their ill-fated love.

The night had closed its wounds with the magic of its artificial stars and with the false gifts of the moon.

No one expected brighter light.
No one remembered the illuminating words of day.

Now the miracle had to begin,
which had been prophesied since the beginning of the world, which was now immersed in the birth-cries of the heralding angels.

With courage they drew their swords, in the name of truth they rode the lie to ruin,
reopening the wounds with their divine blows.
Thus they separated the blood of night from the blood of day.
Death gathered the blood of the night in the bowls of time, but the blood of day offered life to eternity.

Above the heads of the lost, the wandering stars now fell and struck them down with their lies and their delusions.
And all the world could now see the cross of truth in the sky as a new, eternally warming sun.

There, eternity carried the blood of day and united it with the drops from the wounds of the Lamb.
In the lifeless blood in the bowls of time the light of the eternal sun was reflected, and the blood withered in these rays and its cries of lament echoed far into the realms of infinity.

Now even the Lamb's wounds closed, except for one,
which could not yet be sealed.

And God took the cries of the lifeless blood and placed them in the Lamb's open wound, and death fled from the cries and they became songs of life, which proclaimed and will forever proclaim
God's mercy and love.

And the sounds touched the night to its very depths,
so that it trembled and revealed its wound.
And the source of its darkness became visible in the light of truth to all beings of infinity.
And there was horror and dread over the black heart of the lie, which alone remained in time.

In this solitude, the darkness wept true tears of repentance and grief, and its wounded heart flowed the warm blood of humility.
And God anointed the wound of the night with the blood of His heart, to satisfy its longing for redemption, and gently placed the wounded night in His wound and it became one wound, one blood, and one life.

Now God's last wound also closed and there was light in all the realms of time and infinity and the night became eternal day.

The souls, whose number is without end, bowed their heads to God and offered Him their hearts in blissful love and gratitude.

And this became a new creation, the birth of a new world,
far beyond all transience,
far beyond all suffering and pain,
far beyond all death.

The night had already sealed its wounds.
